VBT data center due at planning commission in Feb.

By Rosemary K. Otzman
 Independent Editor

At the end of the almost four-hour Jan. 14 regular meeting of the Van Buren Township Planning Commission, it was announced that the proposed data center would be on the Feb. 11 agenda.

The data center is proposed for 280 acres east of Haggerty Road, north of the I-94 North Service Drive, west of Hannan Road and north to I-275.

Ron Akers, director of municipal services, said if the developers follow through with the paperwork, the commission will consider specific plans for the data center.

Director Akers said DTE will be there, along with the township attorney, the fire marshal, and Panattoni, the developers.

When commissioners said they wanted to be sure the public got all the information that will be presented at the meeting, Akers said he intends to have everything posted on the Van Buren Township website by Feb. 4, a full week before the meeting so the public can study the plans.

Akers said also planned for the Feb. 11 meeting is a public hearing on a proposed EL carwash at Belleville Road and Westlake Blvd., the final site plan for the Stellantis warehouse construction on Ecorse at Denton roads, and information on cul de sac lanes.

In other business at the meeting which started just after 5:30 p.m. and ended at 9:15 p.m., the commission:

- Heard more than an hour of public comment against the proposed data center, as 24 people got up to speak. Towards the end, those who had already spoken got up to add comments;
- Held a public hearing on Mixed Residential Overlay District (MROD) and Mixed Residential District (MRD) zoning text amendments at which one person

A Ford “urgent care” van, at right, welcomes those attending the 2026 Detroit Auto Show at Huntington Place in Detroit. The auto show runs through Sunday. With the Mobile Service van, vehicle repair comes to where the driver is at the click of a smartphone app. Atchinson Ford has put a similar van into service.

Detroit Auto Show shows how to back drivers wherever they go

Discussion of “urgent care” for cars in need while out and about may initially strike many attendees as taboo for any Detroit Auto Show.

But Ford Motor Company has leaned into that reality with its “Mobile Service Units.” Ford’s Customer Service and Performance Director Todd Rabourn led with that offering during the first hours of media previews on Jan. 14.

“We’re competing with everybody’s last, best experience,” Rabourn told WJR.

It’s a sense reflected throughout the show.

Largely gone is the glitz and theater atmosphere from a bygone time when this expo building went by the name Cobo Center. “Prove yourself to me!” might better apply as catch-phrase presently.

For 2026, that means driving-track setups occupying a quarter of the main floor space.

Additionally, Jeep and Bronco models have returned with their own captive courses to challenge their metal in action with some attendees behind the wheels.

So -- was it mere coincidence that access to the “Bronco: Built Wild Experience” attraction entry queued past a fully complemented Mobile Service van?

Experience Director Rabourn simply smiled at this opening question from the Independent for a one-on-one in the Ford booth.

“Mobile Service can extend the customer relationship to where the customer wants to go, as customers extend their reach in their vehicles,” he then said.

Service vans are currently priced somewhere between $110,000 and $140,000 for dealership purchase, complete. He added: “Sixty percent of what we do main-shop can be done by Mobile Service right now.” Notably, configurations do not differ by destination: Trucks out on calls in the Motor City in the wake of a five-inch snowfall between media preview days are effectively the same as those committed to the environmental (and regulatory) climate of Los Angeles.

Pilot program rollout began in 2019, then scaled-up the following year. Currently, 43,000 Mobile Service vehicles are deployed across the United States.

One of them has been operating in Van Buren Township for the past three years, at Atchinson Ford.

Dealership owner Craig Atchinson spoke separately with the Independent from a local perspective.

“Here in Michigan, it’s been building-up more quickly outside of Detroit. Growth spoke. There was a long discussion later on how the zonings would work and that a developer would have to get a rezoning to use them. The commission recommended some editing of the MRD amendment. The commission voted unanimously to recommend the text amendments to the township board with the edits by township planning consultant Vidya Krishnan of McKenna Associates;

- Approved one year of temporary land use for National RV to set up an office trailer at 44700 N. I-94 Service Dr. following the Nov. 29 fire. To continue their state certificate they need an office. Akers said half of the building was completely destroyed and the entire building will be demolished. It will take four and a half weeks to demolish the building and that is expected to start this week. A few vehicles were damaged inside the building, but they were removed before Christmas. The drawings for the new building should be ready by the end of April and the schedule will depend on what Wayne County says, Akers reported. No one was present at the meeting from the dealership and the trailer is already in place at the site;

- Approved final site plan for the 2,548-square-foot addition to the existing Kirkridge Park Cooperative clubhouse facility and demolition and reconstruction came with awareness, and built on need for accessibility: In Brighton, Fenton --where the dealers are more spread-out. Now it's what customers expect."

He made a significant investment last year in ramping-up technicians. A degree of specialized training is needed to ensure consistency between the same repair and service work done on-location versus at any dealership.

"This is my breakout year" for Mobile Service, Atchinson said.

Regardless of any stated corporate intent, an increasingly dominant aspect of the annual ritual at Huntington Place clearly speaks to upping the ante for all drivers, and in particular a segment of owners who want to venture out less bridled. The market value of following them is being recognized.

The 2026 Detroit Auto Show is currently open to the public, and runs through this coming Sunday, Jan. 25. Tickets can be purchased online or on-site.

of a maintenance garage at 8205 Kirkridge Dr. A rain garden is part of the plans;

- Discussed a proposed hotel ordinance amendment and took no action pending more information from the staff. Akers said the amendment was recommended by the township's prosecuting attorney and involved allowing no guests to stay more than 30 days a calendar year unless kitchen facilities are provided. Akers said it had to do with safety and health issues when guest use hot plates. Citations would be issued to hotel owners, Akers said. Commissioner Bernie Grant said he doesn't understand the intent, unless it is that they don't want homeless to stay there. It's a touchy subject and the wording needs to be looked at. Commissioner Jackson Pahle said this is the wrong time for this with housing not available. He said it's up to the owner to tell people to leave, if he wants. Commissioner Jeff Jahr agreed the amendment wasn't well written and, "I can't understand it... What are kitchen facilities? ... It's a stupid law. It needs work... I wouldn't feel good recommending this";

- Heard resident Ashley Shukait speak on the subject of housing under public comment. She works with finding help for the unhoused community and she said there are no open shelters in Wayne County and no waitlists. She said there is a severe housing crisis. She said a former police chief demanded rosters from the hotel owners and 16 people were evicted for staying too long. She said she is horrified at the conditions of shelters in Wayne County and she would never take her children there. "It's a hotel problem, a management issue." Shukait said. "I can't get an intake in 30 days." She said they had a Keystone student who had to be sent to a shelter in Inkster. She said nothing like this is enforced anywhere else. Commissioner Jahr asked the staff to compare this ordinance to surrounding communities. "I would us to address it well," he said;

- Heard Jahr announce the Tri-Community Planning Commissioners from Van Buren, Sumpter, and Belleville will meet at 5 p.m., Jan. 29, at the Belleville High School Commons (cafeteria). The public is welcome to attend to hear discussions on issues of mutual interest.

- Heard commissioner Pahle ask for a clarification to be put in the minutes about the vote in October 2024 was that a data center could be a use of the site, but the planning commission was not told of the size of such a center. This vote should not be considered approval of a data center for this site.

The meeting delayed starting for seven minutes as chairman Cullin was en route to the meeting and was delayed by the snowstorm from his trip back from Bloomfield Hills. Commissioner Peter Creal was absent and excused from the meeting.

Keion Jackson of Sumpter Township spoke during the American Farm Bureau convention in Anaheim, CA, Jan. 9-14. Jackson is Young Farmer and Rule Development Chairman of the Wayne County Farm Bureau. He spoke about trying to get youth excited about farming and living off the land. He shared the stage with speakers from California, West Virginia, Tennessee, Massachusetts, and Indiana. Jackson owns KAAJ Farms which raises sheep and goats and raises grain at Judd and Sumpter roads. And, through his goat-grazing operation, Jackson also delivers practical, sustainable land-management solutions for public green spaces, including having his goats eat invasive plants at Belle Isle. He was accompanied on the trip to California by his mother Erica Jackson of Sumpter Township. The late Frank Rochowiak of the Wayne County Farm Bureau was his mentor.

Sumpter Township names Jamie Goode full-time fire chief

By Rosemary K. Oztman
Independent Editor

Interim fire chief Jamie Goode was named full-time fire chief of Sumpter Township and was sworn in at the regular meeting of the Sumpter board of trustees on Jan. 13.

He replaces fire chief Richard Brown who retired at the end of December.

The board approved $7,539.43 in personal time off and vacation payout for chief Brown.

In other business at the 32-minute meeting, the board:

- Approved assigning the utility billing clerk position to the treasurer's office. This is to be dual-supervisory in nature, working closely with the Department of Public Works director;

- Approved the supervisor's appointment of Katrina Guisgand as an alternate member of the Board of Review with a

Editorial: People need to hear what goes on at public meetings

One of our readers said he thought his hearing must be getting bad because he couldn't hear what was being said at a Belleville City Council meeting because nobody else mentioned not being able to hear the council members speak.

Then others around him spoke up and said they didn't comment because they thought it was something wrong with them for not being able to hear.

We have that problem at the Belleville meetings, but the council said the new building will be better and they have a sound system now, but don't use it. We know.

Sumpter Township meetings are hard to hear because officials explain if they talk too loudly the sound system reacts. So, they speak softly.

In Van Buren Township the sound is pretty good unless speakers turn away from the microphones and then it's hard to hear. If you are trying to go to a meeting via channel 12, the sound is bad, with noises over the sound. YouTube is better.

The school board meetings' acoustics are bad, but the district bought some ear devices to share with the public so they can hear when the speakers turn away from their microphones.

Most meetings are recorded so the public can see and hear them later, but when a member of the public speaks from the audience, you can't hear them because they are not near the microphone. The chairpersons should not allow that. We miss a lot.

Please, public officials, help us hear you!

EXTRA THINGS I KNOW

...By Rosemary K. Otzman

Randy Miller provided a picture of the sign at the Red Rooster on Sunday, Jan. 18. It says: "We are temporary shutting down while the new owner gets the food, lottery, and liquor license transferred. All credits and gift certificates will be honored by the new owners. Thank you in advance for your continued patronage. The Dancho Family."

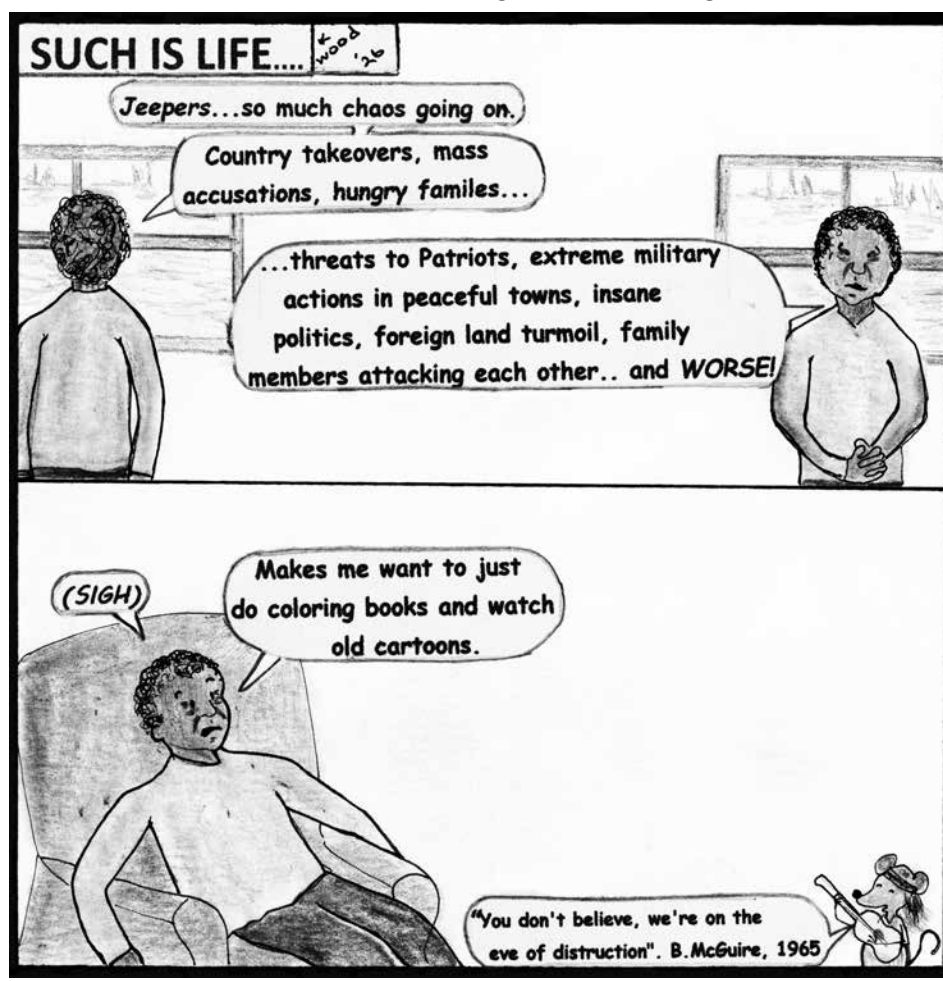

We didn't see the sign on Jan. 15 when we delivered the latest Independents to the Red Rooster. We'll have to check on Thursday to see if they are open yet before we leave any new papers.

Linda Priest told a sad story before the Belleville Area District Library board meeting recently. She often mentions her grandson in Texas. Well, he had been visiting his grandparents in Belleville and Linda and her daughter decided to take him to Van Buren Park so he could have his first experience with sledding. Linda bought him a sled and off they went.

His mother was with him at the top of the hill and Linda was at the bottom recording the six year old's first sled ride for posterity. But, he failed to keep his leg inside the sled and hit a hay bale - breaking both his fibula and tibia in that leg. After he was patched up, they had to drive to Fowlerville to get him a wheelchair that would work for him to travel home because his leg has to be kept straight.

Linda said she threw the sled away.

Keith Bruder said he told his fellow members of the Rotary Club at a recent meeting that he would be shutting off the lights on the gazebo in Victory Park within a few weeks since the holiday season is over. It looks so pretty in the snow that I wish he would wait a while.

I asked Keith if he had fixed the glitch that occasionally sent him to the park on emergency trips to put part of the lighting back on and he said that will have to be done after it warms up. He said the Rotary plans to get some professionals up on the roof and affix the LED lights in place.

Keith has been in charge of the lighting of the gazebo and helps with the planting of the flowers around the gazebo each year. The Rotary even put a second set of steps in place at the gazebo and the members take good care of that part of the park. It always looks lovely.

Thank you, Rotary.

There was a story on the front page of the Detroit News on Monday about a motel being demolished in Romulus. The story told how Romulus had about 26 motels and hotels, the most for any city in the state, and that's, of course, because of the airport.

The Romulus mayor said he was glad to see that motel be demolished since it was a source of troubles and crime and the destination of many, many police visits.

He said he has been focusing on getting the hotel/motel problems solved since he came into office. He said he talks to the owners nicely and does a carrot and stick routine. He doesn't want to have to be enforcing all the rules.

I got to thinking about the newest ordinance change that Van Buren Township Planning Commission was asked to put into effect. The commission didn't act on it, but put it aside until there is more information.

The commission was told the ordinance amendment was written by the township's prosecuting attorney and calls for guests in hotels/motels not to be allowed to stay longer than 30 days unless there was a kitchen facility.

There were all kinds of questions on this idea and a member of the audience who had been at the meeting on another issue, said she was sure the township was trying to keep the homeless from finding a place to stay when there is no other place. The commission was told that it was an issue of safety because those without kitchens will use a hot plate, which is dangerous.

But, maybe it has more to do with the crime that Romulus found in some of its establishments.

We are looking forward to seeing the statement to be prepared for the commission by the attorney on why she really wants them to limit people from staying more than a month.

The commission pretty much agreed that it would be up to the motel owner to evict his tenants if he wants to and the township shouldn't get involved with a time limitation. Should be an interesting discussion when it comes.

Friends of the Belleville Area District Library will be holding their annual meeting on Saturday, Jan. 31 at 11 a.m. in the library. Of course, this hard-working group is always looking for more members so here is your chance to get involved and learn all about how 2025 went and their plans for 2026. You should know by now that I, and many others, think the library is the real gem in our community. With so many fine programs for both adults and children a few more volunteers could really lessen the load. Let's get more involved in 2026

It appears that Trivia nights are really popular with this community and the Van Buren Public School Education Foundation is getting ready for another one on Friday, Feb. 20. Doors will open at 6 p.m. with Trivia starting at 7:15 p.m. Tickets of $10 each include four rounds of play. This is a Disney Trivia Night for the whole family and there will also be a raffle for a Disney Trip for four. You may purchase raffle tickets even if you don't play the Trivia. During the night there will be raffle baskets, mini games, special prize for best dressed Disney group and pizza, drinks, and snacks available for purchase. Tickets are available for purchase so put this on your calendar for a fun night for the entire family. It will be held in the Belleville High School Commons (cafeteria) area.

Thunder Over Michigan will be on July 17, 18 and 19. This week they started announcing the performers. Since we have to go to press on Tuesday afternoon here is what we know so far: USMC MV-22 Osprey Demo Team. I'll share the rest in next week's paper.

Well, we have reached the third week of January and if I had made any resolutions they would be gone by now. It is a good thing I didn't bother. I'm hoping you are doing much better.

Willow Run Airport opens new $63.4M taxiway

The Wayne County Airport Authority has completed a new $63.4 million taxiway at Willow Run Airport (YIP), marking a major infrastructure milestone for the airfield.

According to a news release issued Jan. 7 and then revised, the project received $54.6 million in grants from the U.S. Department of Transportation's Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) through the Airport Improvement Program (AIP).

The program supports airport safety, operational efficiency and capacity enhancements. The federal grants covered more than 90% of eligible items under the program.

The remaining $8.7 million of the project funding was secured through State of Michigan grants.

"The Wayne County Airport Authority is grateful for the FAA's ongoing support and investment in our infrastructure," said

Wayne County Airport Authority CEO Chad Newton. "This funding for the new parallel taxiway at Willow Run Airport is critical to enhancing safety and efficiency."

Stretching more than 7,500 feet, the newly constructed taxiway runs parallel to the main runway. The construction was completed in three phases, beginning in spring 2023 and wrapping up in October 2025.

The construction of the parallel taxiway is part of a larger overarching initiative to improve the design and operational efficiency at Willow Run. The Airport Authority also utilized a portion of the AIP funding for the relocation of FAA equipment, a project that spanned eight months and concluded in January 2025.

"With this work complete, Willow Run is even better positioned to support our cargo partners and future development," said Willow Run Airport Director Michael Fawaz. "We thank our state and federal officials for their ongoing commitment to improving Willow Run."

Willow Run Airport manages more than 200 million pounds of cargo each year, establishing itself as one of the country's leading airports dedicated to air freight transport, the news release said.

District Library to seek temporary replacement for member who died

By Rosemary K. Otzman
Independent Editor

The Belleville Area District Library Board opened its regular meeting on Jan. 13 with a moment of silence in memory of board secretary Alma Hughes-Grubbs who died Jan. 7.

When asked how the board is going to replace that member, president Sharon Peters said that four members will be up for re-election to their four-year terms in November and so Hughes-Grubbs' seat would be added to the ballot for a two-year term.

President Peters said this January meeting was too soon to make a decision and so it can be determined in February or March.

Library director Mary Jo Suchy pointed out the law says the board "shall" appoint a replacement.

Peters suggested the bylaws committee can help determine how to do this and the board will vote on whom to appoint.

Maria Jackson-Smith and Linda Priest make up the two-member bylaws committee and president Peters is an ex-officio member and sits on all committees.

Treasurer Tanya Stoudemire recalled when a board member left the community and they needed a replacement, the board appointed her.

Peters said they could look at people who have come to meetings and shown an interest in the library board.

At the end of the meeting, when board members were sharing their experiences with Hughes-Grubbs, a box of tissues was put in the middle of the board table for their use.

"She showed so much spunk and heart," Peters said of Hughes-Grubbs. Peters said she was going to send flowers to the Jan. 23 memorial service in Detroit, and no one objected. Arrangements were made to attend the service and share rides.

In other business at the one-hour-and-32-minute meeting, the board:

- Re-elected president Peters, vice-president Priest, and treasurer Stoudemire.
- Elected to fill the secretary's position was Joy Cichewicz. Peters said she would make assignments to committees at the next meeting;
- Heard treasurer Stoudemire explain the details of the "clean audit" of the 2024-25 fiscal year made by Alan C. Young and

Associates;

• Heard Priest, who is chairperson of the Personnel Committee, report on the board's annual evaluation of director Mary Jo Suchy. The glowing remarks on her work ended with a committee recommendation of a salary increase of 3%. Priest said Suchy didn't want anything higher. But after discussion, Cichewicz said, "We have a stellar director" and the raise should be at least 4%. The board voted unanimously for an increase of 4%. Suchy said she would accept its decision. Her annual compensation is now $106,724.80;

• Unanimously approved a schedule of salary increases for staff recommended by Suchy, which is at least 3% for everyone, with some step increases for others. For comparison a list of average salaries for various positions was prepared for the board based on the Detroit Suburban Librarians Roundtable 2025 report;

• Heard Suchy report that elevator testing has been completed and she signed a proposal from O'Neal Construction to install new flagpole lights. She said the health insurance for employees was changed from United HealthCare to Health Alliance Plan effective Jan. 1. She said UHC and Corewell still have not settled their differences, which led to the change to protect employees;

• Learned Friends of the Library will hold their annual meeting at 11 a.m. on Saturday, Jan. 31. They will be honoring volunteers at the meeting, among giving annual reports. "This is a great opportunity to celebrate all that they do for the library," Suchy said; and

• Was informed a new temporary art exhibit has been set up by Michele Montour, head of the art committee.

term to expire Dec. 31, 2026;

• Accepted the resignation, with regrets, of police officer Jesiah Rodriguez, effective Jan. 7. In another motion, the board approved $7,646 in personal time off and vacation payout for Rodriguez;

• Approved the SMART Municipal Credit and Community Credit contract for FY 2026;

• Approved a health insurance small group renewal package with rates taking effect Feb. 1 and running through Jan. 31, 2027;

• Heard Kay Harris speak during the public comment period, asking the board to remove the blight from the property next door to her on Sumpter Road that was formerly run by Sammy Nassar now that he is no longer there and it appears to be abandoned;

• Heard Sammy Nassar complain that he has taken over the Hughes site on Savage Road for his used-car lot and has been there since September and done everything by the book that the township wanted and he still can't open his business. He also complained about his business neighbor there, reporting that since he cut off parking from her customers on his property she brought in two truckloads of dirt and dumped it in the county ditch to make more parking access to her bakery. He fears his property will flood. He said she thinks she is above the law, she is very racist, and she hates him. He said he called police and the county and hasn't heard back from either;

• Township attorney Rob Young, now of the law firm of Pentiuik, Couvreur & Kobiljak of Wyandotte, said the township's engineering consultant will look at it the next day, adding although the drain is Wayne County's, "You can't cause neighbors' property to flood";

• Heard public safety director / police chief Eric Luke report the Rawsonville / Willis traffic intersection was the No. 1 spot for accidents in the township in 2025. He reported a 37% increase in felonious assaults in 2025, one homicide, and 100% increase in robberies, although other crimes were down;

• Heard fire chief Goode report his department had four structure fires and 138 calls for service in December. In 2025 there were 47 fires and 1,374 total calls. He also reported that Sumpter will get airpicks and turnout gear at a great savings as part of a grant;

• Heard clerk Don LaPorte report that Sumpter roads have become impassable because of the weather and he wrote to Wayne County for service and got no response. He put the county phone number for roads on the back table in the meeting room plus a county portal to contact. He said 150 people called and the county called him to say they would be out. Reportedly, there were county trucks out earlier on the day of this meeting; and

• Heard clerk LaPorte say that the paving of Judd Road will be on a future township agenda for approval. He said county officials will be present at the next board meeting to discuss the project. LaPorte had asked for the paving of Judd Road between Bohn and Rawsonville roads to make safer access to fire and medical calls from the fire hall to the Rawsonville Woods area where many calls originate. It will cost the township $1 million of the $4 million total cost of the paving, he said. Trustee Matthew Oddy said he thinks the county should pay it all since it's a county road.

Treasurer Bart Patterson was absent and excused from the meeting.

Sumpter planners recommend rezoning for 24473 Sumpter Rd.

By Rosemary K. Otzman
Independent Editor

After a public hearing at its regular meeting on Jan. 8, the Sumpter Township Planning Commission voted unanimously to recommend to the township board rezoning of 24473 Sumpter Rd.

The request is to rezone from C-2 (General Commercial) to R-1 (Country Home Residential).

The recommendation for rezoning was accompanied by stipulations on whether the gas tanks were removed and whether the 125' frontage was appropriate since residential units require 150' and this would not become non-compliant.

The property owner is remodeling the present vacant structure near Grant Park to a single-family home, which is consistent with the township's master plan, said planning consultant Joe Pezzotti.

He said the site is surrounded by residential parcels and the master plan for that area seeks to preserve the agricultural area. He said it needs a septic system approved by Wayne County.

Trustee Matthew Oddy, who sits on the planning commission as board liaison, said the building used to be a gas station and plumbing shop before that. He said it can be researched whether the tanks were removed.

He said the planning consultant can determine whether this 125' frontage is appropriate for the zoning.

During the public hearing, Jim O'Connor of Willis Road said, "He has skills. He has done amazing things with that property," referring to the property owner.

Also, during the public hearing, Kay Harris of Sumpter Road said she would like to know how to rezone from Commercial to Residential and consultant Pezzotti said anyone can apply for rezoning by requesting the change and paying the cost. If the rezoning fits in with the master plan or not determines whether the rezoning will be approved or denied, he said.

Commission chairwoman Jane Stalmack said the township has to revisit the master plan every five years to make necessary revisions to keep in line with what the people want. She said they are now in the

Bench trial on VBT hazardous landfill set for Feb. 2 before Judge Cox

A bench trial before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Sean Cox on a lawsuit against Wayne Disposal, Inc. has been set for 8:30 a.m. Feb. 2.

Wayne Disposal is a hazardous landfill on the North I-94 Service Drive in Van Buren Township. Those bringing the lawsuit seek to have any radio-active waste kept from being disposed of at the site.

The case was filed Sept. 16, 2024 by Canton and Van Buren charter townships, cities of Belleville and Romulus, and the Van Buren Township Fire Chief. Wayne County joined as an intervening party.

On Oct. 10, 2024 the case was removed to federal court by Wayne Disposal and on Dec. 11, 2024 it was returned to circuit court from federal court.

There have been many motions and court dates since then. Judge Cox issued a preliminary injunction stopping the waste from the Manhattan Project era from being delivered from Niagara Falls, NY, and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers shifted the shipment to Texas.

On Oct. 15, 2025 the defendant made a motion to clarify the preliminary injunction order of Aug. 6, 2025 and on Oct. 20, 2025 it was granted in part and denied in part.

On Oct. 30, the court was informed that an appeal to the higher court was denied.

A special conference has been set for 2:15 p.m. Jan. 21, followed by the Feb. 2 trial.

midst of such a review.

In other business at the one-hour-and-33-minute, Jan. 8 meeting, the commission:

- Held a brief public hearing, during which nobody but the consultant spoke, on text amendments for the ordinance on Large Solar Energy Systems. There was a discussion later and trustee Oddy made a motion to table the changes until there were answers about accessory buildings. The text changes involve putting large solar farms only in Industrial zoning districts and delineating the difference between personal and commercial solar projects;
- Removed from the agenda at the beginning of the meeting, the unfinished business of considering a proposed special land use at 40030 Willis Rd. for a veterinary surgery suite on residential property. Trustee Oddy made the motion to remove the agenda item, noting the commission did not have all the information, including details of the private road it was on and easements. Although this was removed, discussion on the request took up most of the time the meeting was in session. Oddy said he knew of non-compliance of water mains in private roads because his parents lived on a private road for 20 or 30 years. The property owner said she had all kinds of inspections done before purchase of the property and there was never a red flag on anything. She said she and her husband saved everything and invested their savings in the home. She said she would get in writing the additional information Oddy requests from others who live on the lane;

- Agreed to set a public hearing on ordinance text amendments proposed to Article 4 Zoning District Regulations. Pezzotti said this was about special land uses concerning auto showrooms and outdoor auto sales space. The change would allow them only in Industrial zoning. The associated RVs and garden/farming businesses could remain in the special land use category, if that's what the commission wanted, he said;

- Heard chairperson Stalmack propose a resolution against data centers in Sumpter Township. She said although none have yet been requested, there are a lot of large properties in the township. Oddy agreed that the township has a moratorium on wetlands and should have one on data centers, since it is hard to stop them once they get started; and

- Heard Oddy talk about enforcing the ordinance concerning sheds and shipping containers. He said people are bringing in more than the one shipping container allowed and they are not painted the same as the house, as required. He said the containers are heavy and sink down in the wet soil in Sumpter, ending up sitting crooked. He said they should see what other communities are doing about that problem. He asked consultant Pezzotti to work on that.
