School board approves new FAA Drone course at BHS

By Rosemary K. Otzman
Independent Editor

At Monday's regular meeting, the Van Buren Public Schools Board of Education voted unanimously to approve a new FAA Part 107 Drone Course at Belleville High School starting with the fall semester.

Teaching both the first and second semesters of the unmanned aircraft systems course will be Aaron Watkins, who is a certified instructor and also is in the final steps of being certified for credentialing.

Each semester counts for one credit in elective credit. Wayne RESA (Regional Education Service Authority) is working with the state to get the courses certified as Career Technical Education.

Twelve small drones will be provided by RESA and there will be blowup cages for classroom use. Outside areas will be used where accessible.

Jill Marvaso, director of curriculum and instruction, presented the details of the class to the board.

It is expected that students in the class take advantage of several opportunities to promote STEM, Robotics, and Mechatronics in the school. Participation in at least one of eight opportunities listed is required. The list includes being on the Robotics team, a member of the Science Olympiad, or a member of the computer programming club at school.

Fields trips to local airports and guest speakers is a part of the program, with potential internship placement.

The class is for those in 10th through 12th grades. Aviation 1 and 2 classes are planned to be added in the future, so the 9th graders can get on track for the drone class.

RESA is backing a county-wide aviation initiative and has established four consortium within the county to carry out this initiative. Van Buren Public Schools is the central consortium and has been designed as a hub for surrounding schools to send students to for aviation CTE courses, such as this drone course.

In other business at the 35-minute, Jan. 26 meeting, the board:

- Received another round of gifts, since it is still School Board Recognition Month. School Supt. Pete Kudlak said each board member was provided with a seat cushion and there is a bouquet of flowers from a school. The board was informed each school had a poster that proclaimed School Board Recognition;

- Approved the employment of Kelly Paton as sixth-grade teacher at Owen Intermediate School as of Jan. 21;

- Approved the retirement of bus driver Marquis Hobson after 19 years as of Jan. 30; the retirement of bus aide Sharon Lesniak after 27 years as of June 12; the retirement of Belleville High School secretary Kris Spillman after 11 years as

VBT Life Saving Award goes to Everett, Pierce

By Rosemary K. Otzman
Independent Editor

Van Buren Township Fire Chief David McNally honored fire fighters Rachel Everett and Christopher Pierce with a life saving award at the Jan. 20 regular meeting of the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees.

Chief McNally said the two were able to enter a home that was on fire and quickly find and rescue occupant Robert Halabut. After treatment at a hospital, he is back in his home residence, McNally said.

On Dec. 27 at about 1:40 p.m., the fire department received a call for black smoke coming out of a home at 8124 Belleville Rd.

A coordinated effort by the police and fire department made it possible for the first two firefighters on the scene to quickly enter the home and rescue the occupant by the time the second engine and ambulance arrived, McNally said.

A number of firefighters, including deputy chief Andy Lenaghan, attended the meeting in support of the two firefighters.

In other business at the brief meeting on Jan. 20, the board:

- Approved the legal services contract for Butzel Long to serve as the township’s employee relations and labor attorneys, as recommended by Human Resources Director Nicole Monia. Firms applying were “grilled” by Monia, the full-time electeds, and three directors, along with providing information on their labor cases with final decisions. Butzel Long attorneys Rebecca Davies, Craig S. Schwartz, and Kevin Lynch were present at the township board meeting to be hired. Their reduced hourly rates for VBT are: $300 for shareholders, $225 for other attorneys and associates, and $175 for paralegals;

- Approved moving $1.6 million in the 2026 Fire Department budget for the purpose of administering a FEMA Assistance to Firefighter Grant for six fire departments. Chief McNally said Van Buren will save $200,000 on new, high-standard air packs, and will pay 10%. Van Buren will get grants on other equipment, as well, he said;

- Approved the 2026 Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation (SMART) contract for $28,433 for van/bus operations. The local match of $65,817 is met by the township general fund and in-kind services. The total budget is $94,250;

- Approved a budget amendment to the 2026 Supervisor and Assessing Department’s Capital Outlay Budgets in order to purchase a new RICHO high-task school year and they are looking into ways to celebrate. Pearce also said she would like an update on school security from director Dan Wright, sometime over the next two months.

printer for $9,995. The current printer in use had been in the clerk’s office mail room and some of the toner it uses in no longer being made;

- Approved the supervisor’s reappointments of regular members John Herman and Charles Larocque to the Board of Zoning Appeals with terms to expire Dec. 1, 2028;

- Heard clerk Leon Wright, who was chairing the meeting in the absence of supervisor Kevin McNamara, say that the board just had a closed-door session on four contracts concerning public safety; and

- Heard two residents say they would like the township board to issue moratoriums on data centers and make sure the Cannoli project now under consideration is included in the moratorium.

Before the regular meeting began, the board went into closed-door session to discuss the strategy and negotiations of a collective bargaining agreement.

The board met with a bare quorum of four: Clerk Wright, treasurer Sharry Budd, and trustees Donald Boynton and Will Frazier. Absent were supervisor McNamara, and trustees Kevin Martin and Bryon Kelley.

Council gives Faull $5,000 raise, permanent title

By Rosemary K. Otzman
Independent Editor

Belleville police chief Kris Faull, who also has been serving as interim public safety director since November of 2024, was elevated to permanent public safety director with a $5,000 increase in salary applied retroactively.

At the Jan. 20 regular meeting of the Belleville City Council, mayor Ken Voigt said Faull has done a phenomenol job in the interim role and deserves to be put in it permanently.

Faull was paid an extra $3,000 in salary for the interim role and it was suggested that she get her raise retroactively for the 14 months she served as interim director.

Mayor Voigt explained that would mean $2,000 more than the $3,000 she was paid extra for that interim time,

The council voted unanimously to the mayor’s proposal for the change in title and the raise.

In other business, the council:

- Voted unanimously to approve a one year extension of the fire department’s union contract with a 5% increase in pay and the addition of two holidays, Juneteenth and Martin Luther King Day. The contract had expired Dec. 31;

- Held the second half of the public hearing on the City Parks and Recreation Plan, which lasted two minutes and had no public speaking, and then approved the plan. The approved plan needs to be sent to the state by Feb. 2 for the city to be eligible for state park grants. The first part of the public hearing was held at the last city meeting and then the rest of the hearing was scheduled for Jan. 20, all in an effort to comply with proper state timing of publication for its meeting announcement;

- Approved an expenditure of $12,269.35 for the low bid of Kerry Brothers Downriver to repair the city’s leaf vacuum by installing a whole new diesel engine. The bid from Hudson’s was $15,808.37, which involved taking the engine apart;

- Approved the mayor removing from the agenda without comment Tax Incentives for City Economic Development, for the second meeting in a row;

- Approved the mayor’s board and commission appointments: Planning commission, Gerald Keeder III and Alvis Brigis, with terms to expire Dec. 31, 2028; Parks and Recreation, Sydney Moorthy, Jason Mida, Quentin Gerwolls, expires Dec. 31, 2029; Construction Board of Appeals, John Hennessey, Mark Davenport, William Osier, and Andrew Lenaghan, expire Dec. 31, 2027; Downtown Development Authority, Sabrina Richardson-Williams and Chris Donley, expire Dec. 31, 2029; Board of Review, Hannah Rodriguez and Judy Jordan, expire Dec. 31, 2028;

- Approved naming Nathaniel Johnson, the city’s director of the Department of Public Works, as street administrator in all transactions with the state Department of Transportation;

- Heard DPW director Johnson give credit to DPW employee Nate Fogel, who was present, for all the hard work he does.

Editorial:

Great idea:
No cell phones
in the classroom

The House and Senate in Michigan seem to agree on the idea of keeping cell phones out of the hands of students in the classrooms.

That's a great idea. The governor says she will sign it into law once their work comes to her.

Have you ever seen the students hunkered over their cell phones with their hoodies pulled up over their heads, ignoring what the teacher is teaching? No wonder the scores are so low in Michigan.

They should not allow them to be brought into the school buildings at all. If a parent wants to reach a child for an emergency or vice versa, they can go through the office.

National Heritage Academies, which manages Keystone Charter Academy in Sumpter Township, already has a rule that cell phones don't come to school at all. All correspondence between families goes through the office and everyone seems to be surviving just fine.

Once the students are freed of having to keep up with friends or games on their phones they can listen to what the teacher is saying and learn what they are expected to learn. Scores should soar.

Parents are sure to complain about this new law because parents, themselves, are addicted to their cell phones. Look around. For most young people, all you can see is the tops of their heads as they walk along with a phone in hand.

EXTRA THINGS I KNOW

The Michigan Department of Transportation has announced it will begin upgrading I-94 between I-275 in Romulus and US-12 (Michigan Avenue) at the Detroit border in late February. Work will be extensive and is expected to be done by 2029. This is a heads-up for those who travel that busy route.

A Romulus resident just alerted us that the Nov. 6 issue of the Independent sent to him on Nov. 5, just arrived in his mailbox. The Post Office is driving everyone crazy. Where has that paper been for so long?

My payment to Blue Cross Blue Shield, mailed before Christmas didn't get to the company before its due date in January. I'm using email payments wherever I can, but I don't want to pay extra for using a card. Those payments with charges for paying by card I will still put into the mail.

On Monday, it was announced the Detroit Free Press plans to acquire The Detroit News. The two had just severed a 35-year joint operating agreement and The News had announced it would release its first Sunday edition in decades on Jan. 18, but that didn't happen.

Instead the two organizations signed an agreement to continue to share some operations through March. That's when the new agreement will be finalized, I guess.

USA Today, now the owner of the Free Press, said the two newspapers will continue to publish separately despite the same ownership. I'd much rather they competed.

...By Rosemary K. Otzman

We thought the Van Buren Public Schools meeting of the board of education on Monday might have been canceled, since school was canceled that day. Wrong. The board met as usual. Just one item was on the agenda for action and that was to approve a class to teach drone skills.

Have you noticed how high the value of gold and silver has climbed recently? At last look, we saw gold at more than $5,000 an ounce and silver more than $100 an ounce, the highest ever for both metals. They are valuable because of their use in computer chips, we're told.

We read the report about someone driving right into the McNamara Terminal at Metro Airport at about 7:30 p.m. last Friday, but didn't visualize what had happened until some bystanders posted their pictures.

The vehicle drove through the glass windows at the Delta Airlines entry and headed right up to the airplane ticket counter and hit it. The airport said the fire department treated six people for injuries. They said there are bollards by the doors, so how did the vehicle get by them?

The driver is in custody and the investigation continues.

At Monday's school board meeting, board president Amy Pearce described a BHS New Tech Bio-lit project with a Farm-to-Plate Showcase. It starts when farmers come and explain how the food grows and then students select food and fix it and bring the farmers back to help eat it. The farmers also explain why it is important to eat food that is grown near where they live.

Those of us older folk remember the days we worked in the fields around here to grow precious food for our families, which our mother's canned and put in the cellar in jars for eating year-round.

We've got to teach our young people how that all works, since they don't see it first-hand any more.

During and after the Great Depression people moved from cities out to the countryside so they could feed their families with fresh food. The land was very precious to them and the whole family worked to grow what they ate.

It's been pretty cold these days, but after all, this is Michigan and it's wintertime. Spring will come as it always does, but it does seem quite far away at this moment. I've just been layering up and walking like a penguin to keep from falling. So far, I'm surviving.

Are you cold enough yet? If not, maybe it is time to try the annual Polar Plunge! It will be held at the BYC on E. Huron River Drive on Saturday, Feb. 14. What a way to celebrate Valentine's Day! Just go online and type in Wayne County Polar Plunge – 2026 to register or donate to this worthy cause for Special Olympics.

Last week I gave you one of the Demo Teams scheduled for Thunder Over Michigan on July 17, 18 and 19 and today I'm adding to that list. Joining the MV-22 Osprey Demo Team is the Jack Aces P-51 Demo Team, Melissa Burns in her Edge 540, the Smoke-N-Fire Jet Truck, and last but not least, the USAF F-16 Viper Demo. I'll elaborate more on all these as we get closer to the event but for now be sure to purchase your tickets while they are discounted.

Don't forget the annual meeting for the Friends of the Belleville Area District Library on Saturday at 11 a.m. Joining this group will probably be one of the best things you do in 2026.

Did you see the letter last week about starting a Lion's Club again? I can't figure out why we can't keep one going. I remember back in the day when Meijer would let non-profits do fundraising on their property, spending some time collecting for our local club. Those were the days when we all helped each other and hopefully that could happen again. I was a member of our local Optimist Club and we eventually disbanded because no one had time to take over the officer position. However, it was a breakfast club (I do love having breakfast at a restaurant) and for many years we continued to meet just for the food! I think a few might still be at Sam's on Tuesday mornings.

If anyone signed up to be a member of the new Lion's Club last week, please let me know so I can refer others. Each club has its particular calling and the Lion's Club is saving sight, supporting youth, providing disaster relief, and meeting humanitarian needs.

The old Glass Ranch building on South Street has become a home to many small businesses. The latest to start cooking in that commercial kitchen is The Original Meat. It is long past time that we had a vegan option. Many of you may remember Julia from the Belleville Farmers Market in 2024. She didn't participate last summer but will be returning this year. Look for her ad in the paper this week. Welcome, Julia, to the Belleville business community.

You don't want kids hitting teachers

To the editor:

I am flustered with people -- you don't want kids hitting teachers. With that being said, how on God's green earth is ANY teacher going to have control in the classroom?

I have lived in this area for 50-plus years and never has that ever been tolerated. Why now?

The connections that kids and even adults have with their phones, it is like a love affair that's gone wrong. Parents, didn't you limit the time they could play games on the television or computers? Why not the phone? They can't. Why? Because the adults in their lives cannot let their phones go.

Sorry, peeps, the computer is a wonderful tool. That is all it is -- a tool, not a life. We need to stop letting children take the phone to school. Ahh, don't blow a nut. How did your mom get ahold of you? Why can't you do the same?

A school is a place where respect is given, teacher to student, student to teacher.

Please, no name.

Johnson said he lost another crew member last Sunday at the water main break and he wanted to honor Fogel for his work. Fogel said later that the reason he is still working at the DPW is because of the leadership of Johnson;

- Approved accounts payable of $1,592,314.11, which includes $500,451.67 to Davenport Construction for 330 Charles project construction;

- Heard councilman Priest ask about the dead tree on North Liberty, which is still in place. Public safety director Faull said the property owner has been ticketed;

- Heard interim city manager Jones thank the DPW director for going down in the basement to fix the boiler after it went down twice that day. "We might only have one more council meeting here," said mayor Voigt. "And I'll be here to push the plunger"; and

- Heard the mayor say he really appreciates the 90-day stint by DPW worker Rick who gives the city some breathing room to find new workers. He said he appreciates the DPW now fixing water mains instead of contracting that out. He thanked councilwoman Kissel for the hundreds of hours of work in organizing the move to the new city hall. He noted that he joined Van Buren Township supervisor Kevin McNamara and Romulus mayor Robert McCraight in a roundtable discussion about hazardous waste landfills and their effect on the community.

Sharon Tontalo

SHARON TONTALO

October 24, 1954 – December 29, 2025
 Sharon "Sherry" Tontalo, age 71, of Belleville, MI, passed away on December 29, 2025, with her two sisters and brother-in-law, Patti (Dennis) Graham and twin sister, Sandy Tontalo Vye, by her side. She was born on October 24, 1954, to Robert and Betty (Cawthon) Tontalo in Ypsilanti, MI. Sherry graduated from Belleville High School in 1972 and then went on to become an airline flight attendant for many years. She loved reminiscing about her travels to Europe, Mexico, and throughout the United States. She was proud to achieve her life-long desire to work in the airline industry and travel the world.

Sherry was a true Belleville Booster and was actively involved in many of the city's events and veteran's organizations, selling poppies and assisting at VFW bingo games and outings. She supported local community events with her father Robert, who served as a councilman, fire commissioner, and mayor-pro-tem. As members of St. Anthony's church, Sherry and her family participated in many activities over the years. Sherry also worked with her mother Betty, who became known as Belleville's Easter Bunny in Victory Park, where she passed out baskets to the children of the city. Sherry loved music, collected antiques, and was a talented home decorator.

Sherry lived in her home in Belleville until 2017 when she suffered a stroke which resulted in speech aphasia. Following that, Sherry resided at Westlake Health Campus in Commerce, MI. She became a part of that supportive community and continued to perform many service activities; she loved helping the staff decorate for holidays and events. Sherry passed away from consequences of recently discovered cancer and a stroke during Christmas week. The hospice team lovingly cared for her during the last month.

Sherry is survived by her siblings, Patti (Dennis) Graham of Commerce, MI, Sandy Tontalo Vye of Belleville, MI, and Rebecca Tontalo of Sherman Oaks, CA; her nephew Trevor (Ruba) Vye of Belleville, MI; and her four great nieces and nephews. The Cawthon and Tontalo cousins, friends, neighbors, and Westlake's caregivers will miss Sherry's beautiful heart and bright spirit. Sherry was preceded in death by her parents.

According to her wishes, dignified cremation rites have been accorded with the David C. Brown Funeral Home of Belleville. A memorial celebration of life will take place in the summer with her burial at Hillside Cemetery in Belleville, MI.

Belleville council holds workshop on what to do about city manager post

By Rosemary K. Oztman
Independent Editor

Belleville mayor Ken Voigt said the 90-minute city council workshop on Jan. 22 was just to discuss how to fill the vacant city manager post and not to make any decisions.

But, after much discussion on the lofty goals for a city manager, at the end of the meeting the council informally approved having the mayor propose some recruitment firms to help it find the right candidate.

At the beginning of the workshop, retired city police officer Bart DeVos said the Belleville position is a stepping stone for someone who wants a bigger position and the city should hire someone local.

Huron Clinton Metropark Police Lt. Jim Cayce, who lives in Belleville, said he agrees with DeVos that the city manager should be a local person.

Takisha Henry, who works at city hall in accounts payable and taxes, said when a DPW employee quit, the interim city manager worked on the water main being repaired. "What else does he need to do?" she asked.

They all were referring to interim city manager Steve Jones, who lives in the city. Jones was not present at the meeting.

But, Voigt said this discussion was not about individuals, but about what qualities the council wanted in a city manager. Once that is decided, they could look at who they want, he said.

He said the city charter is the city's guiding document and he read the training required as "He shall be selected solely on the basis of his executive and administrative qualifications with special reference to his training and actual experience in municipal administration."

Voigt apologized for the "he" used in the wording, saying that it hasn't been updated.

He said since state law changed, the city manager no longer has to live in the city, as the charter requires.

Mayor Voigt said he invited Belleville property owner Phil Miller to come to the workshop since he has the training and experience for a city manager, but is not interested in this Belleville post.

Miller said he has an undergraduate degree in public administration and political science, with classes in economics, human resources, and history. He holds a master's degree in administration.

Miller said they could look at someone with an IO (industrial and organizational) psychology degree, which would have skills on how to squeeze a lot of work out of few people, like the person would have to do in Belleville.

He said councils often allow departments to make their own policies. He said the council should make the policies and the department heads put them into practice.

Miller said the candidates should be informed of the demographics and challenges of the position and have blunt discussions. Candidates don't have insight in the local issues.

Lt. Cayce said perhaps they should have two interviews with candidates, with one being with department heads.

City clerk/treasurer Briana Papin said she has been employed by Belleville for nine years in August and over that time there has been six city managers. She said employees want to have input on the questions the candidates will be asked.

Voigt had been writing what council members called out as what they wanted in a city manager on big post-it notes stuck on the wall. Councilwoman Julie Kissel wrote "Staff Ideas List" on a big post-it and carried it back into the city offices to post.

Miller said at one interview process he went through there were two sessions, with different staff members. Then he had to attend a city party to see if he fit in. He suggested Belleville could have a meet and greet session to get to know members of the community.

Mayor Voigt said there are a number of different recruitment firms and costs range from $7,000 to $14,000 for communities the size of Belleville, "If that is the route we want to go and I firmly believe it is."

Voigt continued, "This is not a process I want to rush, but I don't want to drag it, either." He said a firm would help with the details of a search.

He suggested they interview firms during the second meeting in February. Voigt said he would vet the firms before inviting them to apply and they could give the city guidance on salary.

Miller said, "Belleville is notoriously low in city manager pay. It's a donut hole in a larger community" and it has the schools, library, museum, and other things inside it for the greater whole. "You're punching way above your weight. I would never apply here

-- not enough money."

He suggested they put together a special contract concerning time "to stop the revolving door."

He said the council wants someone with the skills of a mid-career candidate, but those candidates are looking for larger towns.

Mayor Voigt said maybe they could get a city manager in four to five months. He said they hurried last time and were "trying to do it on the cheap."

DPW director Nathan Johnson said, "You need to tell the person all the plates they need to handle. So it's not a jack in the box job." He referred to the surprises he found in his new job.

A man in the audience pointed out that if the expenditure is more than $10,000, they have to go out for bids.

Clerk Papin said they also need to do better background checks.

"This has to be better than anything done in the past," councilwoman Kissel said of what they were doing.

"Any group is a work in progress," added mayor pro-tem Kelly Bates.

Miller said they might want to look into job sharing, where they take a successful city manager in another community and use that person with an appointed deputy to make it work.

Bates said the city wants its own city manager.

Seaching for Rosie the Riveter stories to help shape Rosie Day 2026

Michigan's manufacturing leaders and community partners have united to plan the annual Michigan Rosie the Riveter Day, to be held on Friday, March 13, at the Capital Region International Airport in Lansing.

The event will spotlight Michigan's legacy in manufacturing, aerospace, and farming -- industries sustained during World War II by women who built planes, tanks, engines, and tools while keeping agriculture strong at home. Their work reshaped the American workforce.

"Michigan Rosie Day honors the women whose skill and resolve kept Michigan moving during wartime," said Cindy Kangas, executive director of the Capital Area Manufacturing Council. "We hope their example inspires today's women in STEM and the skilled trades to pursue bold careers, and that these stories continue to shape how we teach, recruit, and remember."

Event organizers are seeking descendants, relatives, and community members with connections to WWII-era manufacturing, aerospace, military service, or farming. Families are invited to share photographs, letters, uniforms, factory stories, farm records, and memories for inclusion in a scrolling historical slideshow and curated displays at the event.

"We encourage Michiganders to open old boxes, and make a few meaningful phone calls," said Tanya Blehm, event coordinator. "Ask your parents, grandparents, and aunts what your family was doing during the war. Those conversations keep our country's history, our local businesses, and our family legacies alive."

"We are deeply committed to accessibility," said Jeannette Gutierrez, Rosie the Riveter Association of Michigan.

"If a WWII-era Rosie or veteran relative is homebound or unable to attend, our team will work with families to ensure their story and likeness are represented. Children and grandchildren of Rosies are invited and encouraged to speak on behalf of their loved ones during the program so every legacy can be honored and shared," she said.

"When grandchildren share their Rosie's story, they carry forward not just family pride, but the values of hard work and courage that define Michigan," said Wanda Norman, Automation Alley. "Every Rosie's story matters -- whether told in person, through a photograph, or by a loved one. Michigan Rosie Day is committed to ensuring no voice is left behind."

Families with WWII-era stories, photos, or artifacts -- or those wishing to represent a homebound relative -- are encouraged to contact Cindy at cindy@camconline.org. Individuals interested in sharing their family's Rosie the Riveter story or representing a loved one may register as a speaker at <https://mirosieday.org/>. For ongoing announcements, program highlights, and event updates, follow Michigan Rosie Day on Facebook at <https://www.facebook.com/share/1UHavGPDuz/>.

Belleville DDA hires Goose Control for Horizon, Village parks

By Rosemary K. Oztman
Independent Editor

Although the Belleville Downtown Development Authority's plan had been to rehire the Goose Control business to keep Canada geese out of Horizon Park, at its meeting on Jan. 21, the DDA decided to add Village Park as well.

That was in response to a request by mayor pro-tem Kelly Bates, who had talked about the geese at the city council meeting the night before.

Steve Jones, who is DDA coordinator and interim city manager, said the Goose Control information he gave DDA concerning Horizon Park is exactly the same as the last year. It is $870 a month, which is $5,220 for six months.

He said their efforts were successful, when there wasn't outside influence.

When Bates, who lives in Victoria Commons, requested that Village Park be added for Goose Control, Jones said he went back to the business and it put together a proposal for Village Park, too.

He said it is the same as Horizon Park, at $870 a month and $5,220 for six months.

DDA chairman John Winter said there have been a lot of complaints on droppings at Victoria Commons.

Treasurer Sabrina Richardson-Williams asked if the DDA has the $10,440 it would take to do both parks and she was told they did.

Jones said the DDA has had a company to chase geese for three years at Horizon Park, although the first company closed and the present company took over.

Mayor Ken Voigt said the program has definitely been beneficial at Horizon Park, but he doesn't know about conditions at Village Park.

Richardson-Williams, who also lives at Victoria Commons, said there are droppings on the walkways. She said this is her backyard, but she doesn't know if it's worth $5,220.

She said the city agreed to cover half of the cost for Horizon Park last year.

Whitney Beaubien made the motion to approve both parks for Goose Control at a cost of $10,440 and to ask the city council to kick in a portion, but not necessarily half. The motion was seconded by Voigt and passed unanimously.

In other business at the one-hour-and-17-minute meeting, the DDA:

- Deferred action on a new DDA website until more information could be presented. Jones presented just one proposal, from KSpringer Media Management. But then Beaubien presented a proposal from Leon Goldfish, who services a number of municipalities throughout this and adjoining states, and they are looking for a third proposal. Members didn't have time to read the Goldfish proposal, but it was less in cost. They decided to schedule presentations, possibly in March, by all wishing to apply;
- Went through the follow-up list, line by line, to determine which items could be pulled, since some had been on the list since 2022. Some items were pulled and some added, including research into having lights at the pickleball court in Village Park since it had been vandalized;

- Discussed the vacant, DDA-owned property at Third and Main streets to determine if the property is buildable. Jones said they still have to get final determination from EGLE (Michigan Department of Environment, Great Lakes and Energy) on whether the former gas station site is clean enough for building.

Secretary Denise Baker said in the worst case scenario it can be a parking lot;

- Heard Valerie Kelley-Bonner propose the DDA set up a Civic Duty Education Night to encourage civic education and voting. She said a group, Survivors Speak, will handle it for the DDA at a cost of $2,500. The DDA had allocated $5,000 for a Belleville High School event that didn't work out and this is just half in cost, she said. This program has been put on in a lot of places where voter turnout was low, she said. With the proposed BHS event the goal was to have youth involved and this is for young people. They could invite the mayor, police chief, judges, League of Women Voters, and others to participate, she said. Kelley-Bonner said she and Richardson-Williams will put together a proposal and bring it to next month's meeting; and

- Heard Beaubien say there will be another committee meeting on Jan. 29 about the "Wherehouse" (vacant hardware store owned by the DDA) to discuss how to make it work or sell it. The meeting is

ORPHAN OF THE WEEK BAILEY

MEET BAILEY!

Bailey is a 5.5-year-old pit bull mix who is ready to find her forever home. She has shown herself to be very dog-friendly and does wonderfully interacting with other dogs, making her a great candidate for a home with canine companions.

Bailey truly loves people and especially enjoys the company of adults and older children. During a recent overnight stay with one of our volunteers, Bailey proved what a fantastic house guest she is. She is fully house-trained and will gently whine to let you know when she needs to go outside. She does not destroy items in the home, explored the backyard calmly and cautiously, and made no attempts to jump the fence.

Bailey is very food-motivated and a great listener, which makes her easy to work with and eager to please. While she isn't particularly interested in toys, she more than makes up for it with her affectionate nature. She's a bit of a velcro dog who loves being near her people-and yes, she's also a proud bed hog! Bailey prefers not to be petted on the top of her head, but once you respect her boundaries, she happily shows her sweet, loving personality.

She does well on leash but would benefit from continued practice to further build her confidence. Bailey is also a great car rider, making her an excellent companion for outings and adventures.

Bailey is fully vetted - she is spayed, up to date on all vaccinations, heartworm negative, and microchipped. If you're looking for a sweet, loyal, well-mannered companion who enjoys human connection, does well with other dogs, and would thrive in an adult or older-children home, Bailey may be your perfect match.

City Council approves permanent risers in new city hall on 3-2 vote

By Rosemary K. Otzman
Independent Editor

The council meeting room in the new city hall building at 330 Charles St. was intended to be a flex space like the library's Cozadd Room, with the city council table on the same level as the audience.

But, at a recent city council meeting, councilman Randy Priest told fellow councilmembers that he has looked at other communities and studies and found that a raised council table allows residents to better see those they have elected and the council members could see the residents better.

At the regular city council meeting on Jan. 20, interim city manager Steve Jones gave a report on progress at 330 Charles St. and councilman Priest said he was concerned about where the risers would go.

He said the small closet by the door of that room should be knocked out of the way. He said the risers should be there 100% of the time and not be moved back and forth as suggested. It would be cheaper and more solid, he said.

Mayor Ken Voigt said at first he thought the council table should be on the same level as the audience for the "community room" to have a flexible space, but after Priest's comments, he looked into it and now agrees with Priest.

He said he goes to meetings at various municipalities for the Council of Western Wayne and they all have raised council tables.

"I firmly believe having risers is the way to go to have an orderly meeting," mayor Voigt said, adding the risers could be used as a stage, a version of Van Buren

Township's Black Box.

Councilwoman Julie Kissel opposed changing the architect's idea of a flexible room with portable risers, if desired, and a small storage room next to the door for storage.

Councilman Jeremiah Beebe said he opposed the extra cost to permanently install the risers and the removal of the closet.

Mayor Voigt said Davenport Construction said it would remove the 21" closet without cost. When councilwoman Kissel protested about losing the storage space, Voigt pointed out they had "tons of storage" space in the new city hall.

Councilwoman Kissel said it was for storing the electronic gear from the council table because they couldn't watch it when other groups were using the room.

Mayor Pro-Tem Kelly Bates asked who would be using the flexible space and mayor Voigt said, "Many times the Cozadd Room [at the library] is not available and groups could come here."

Mayor Pro-Tem Bates said it wouldn't be for baby showers and Voigt said, no, that they already had problems with scheduling such events at Victory Station.

Voigt noted he got prices for installation of a permanent riser for $4,100, with two options for portable risers at $5,500 and $7,500.

Bates said they should put the permanent risers in to start to save money.

"I'm glad Randy brought it up," Voigt said.

Bates made the motion to install permanent risers at a cost of $4,100 and eliminate the closet. This was seconded by Priest.

Voting yes were Bates, Priest, and Voigt. Voting no were Beebe and Kissel, with Kissel's vote being a strong "No." The motion passed.

Interim city manager Jones also reported activity at 330 Charles St. that included carpet laid in the main office on the city side, painting in that area, toilets in the women's restroom upgraded to be ADA at a cost from $1,300 to $1,400, hanging of doors, bullet-proof window installed in police department, front doors still in Texas and a week and a half out, and other work.

Bates asked Jones, "How much total have we spent on the new city hall?" and he replied that he would send the information to her.

Michael Dotson re-elected chairperson of VBT LDFA for 2026

Michael Dotson was re-elected chairman of the Van Buren Township Local Development Financial Authority for 2026 at its regular meeting on Jan. 13.

Re-elected as vice chairman was Pete Kudlak, superintendent of the Van Buren Public Schools, and re-elected as second vice-chairman was Alex Dine.

Also on the agenda was the LDFA's review of the 2025 Draft Synopsis of Activities as submitted by Van Buren Township deputy supervisor Dan Selman.

The synopsis explained the original purpose of the LDFA was to finance and construct eligible public improvements for the Visteon Village project which was completed in 2004. In order to complete the public improvements, the LDFA established a development plan and tax increment financing plan which identified the improvements, estimated the costs of the improvements and estimated the amount of tax revenue the authority would capture based on the proposed improvements.

In order to finance the construction of the public improvements, the LDFA issued bonds to cover the costs of the improvements and those bonds were guaranteed by the township's ability to tax. Those public improvements have been completed.

Due to economic conditions, the LDFA was unable to capture sufficient tax revenue to cover scheduled debt service due to the shortfall, which occurred on Oct. 1, 2019. This triggered a continuation of litigation over a longstanding legal dispute with the LDFA and township against the original developer Visteon, over the obligation relating to the Series 2003 Tax Increment Bond, the Series 2006 Tax Increment Revenue Refunding Bonds, and the Series 2015 Tax Increment Revenue Refunding Bonds issued by the township for improvement on certain real property for the development of Visteon Village, now known as Grace Lake Corporate Center.

In 2019, the LDFA and the township structured a loan agreement with "advances" from the township to the LDFA to cover the shortfall amount of the debt service. As detailed in the loan agreement, the LDFA agreed to pay interest on the township's shortfall payments until they are reimbursed at an annual interest rate equal to the average interest rate that the township is earning on the investment of its General Fund monies.

These "advances" were necessary to meet the bond obligations due on April 1 and Oct. 1 each year until the bond obligation is fulfilled.

In 2023, the township and LDFA reached a settlement agreement with Visteon. The terms of the settlement were that Visteon agreed to pay the sum of $12 million to Van Buren Township in two installments of $6 million. In return, the township and LDFA agreed to release Visteon of any future obligations related to assisting in the repayment of the bonds.

On July 1, 2023, the township received the first installment of $6 million. On July 3, 2024, the township received the second installment of $6 million.

Per legal counsel, the settlement funds went toward repayment of the "advances" for the debt service. The principal and interest among paid off was $8,216,264.35. The LDFA is currently paying semi-annual debt payment with the remaining Visteon settlement money supplemented by semi-annual tax capture revenues.

With the terms of the settlement agreement satisfied, the Visteon matter is now closed.

As of Dec. 31, 2025, the LDFA's cash balance was $1,044,611.40 which will continue to be directed toward future debt obligations.

As specified in the most recent annual audit in 2024, the primary focus of the LDFA is payment of debt obligations from tax captures. Due to this, there were no other capital or promotional projects by the LDFA in 2025.

12-week, police-news blackout to Independent newspaper finally ends

We are looking back at the Jan. 18, 1996 edition of the Belleville-Area Independent and the big, front-page headline that reads: "VBT news blackout over."

The 12-week police news blackout to the Independent ended on Jan. 16, 1996 after Van Buren Public Safety Director Mark Perkins read a statement indicating all news agencies will receive news in the same manner.

The statement came during the regular board meeting of the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees, when the Independent spoke to the board on the issue, as promised in the open letter published on the front page of the Jan. 4 edition.

The discussion of freedom of the press, the Constitution, and the adversarial relationship of the Independent to the township government lengthened the meeting about an hour.

After Director Perkins read his statement,

John Lange of Westland asked for clarification. "Will Rosemary be given the same information as the other papers?"

Perkins replied, "Certainly."

Lange explained he has been considering moving to the township.

Also in that edition of the Independent was the copy of a letter from State Rep. Deborah Whyman in which she asks the state attorney general to offer an opinion on the news blackout.

On page two of the Jan. 18, 1996 edition, there is a police report of Van Buren Police arresting a man in the Juniper and Quirk road area who was lurking in the bushes next to the house of a family who had just left on vacation. The blue vehicle he parked in the drive turned out to be reported stolen in Dearborn, according to police.

A story about Mo Cheaid, the owner of Haggerty House, tells of him opening the business formerly known as Roxy's and before that as Rogalle's.

Also, a story on page 3 tells of Bill Wolters, who graduated from Belleville High School in 1966, and had recently moved his flourishing go-kart business from Ypsilanti into the building he knew so well, right across from BHS. He said he remembers sitting in the classrooms across the street from his new business location, never dreaming what the future would bring. His businesses there were Stoney Creek Motorsports and Birel USA.

The building formerly housed the Atchinson Ford dealership and Barber Dodge, before it was leased by Morgan's Collision.

Wolters, who said he was a cut-up in high school, went to Eastern Michigan University where he got a business education degree. He taught part time at Henry Ford Community College and became a permanent substitute at BHS.

Although the story doesn't mention it, Wolters also is a highly praised military veteran.

A long letter from Vesta Losen also was printed on the failings of the Van Buren Public Schools board of education, especially when it voted to include abortion as a method of birth control in its High School Health Class.

She said although abstention is listed, so were birth control devices, which she said was confusing for a student.

Franklin, Thomas named to Dean's List at U. of Maryland Global
